FINE ART & CRAFT

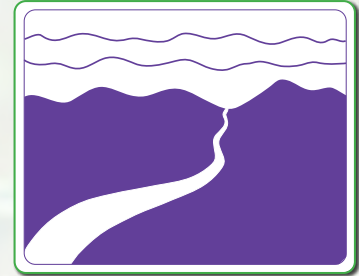

SCENIC 276 SOUTH

Transylvania, one of North Carolina's most scenic counties, beckons tourists to explore her mountainous terrain with forests, waterfalls, wildlife, and gentle rolling pastures. Its rich arts and crafts heritage is well established in the town of Brevard and along the Scenic 276 South Fine Art & Craft Corridor. This Corridor encompasses a 13-mile stretch beginning just south of Brevard and ending at the NC/SC line. It meanders up the mountain showcasing art galleries, working and teaching studios, shops, charming lodgings, home-style dining and fresh local produce.

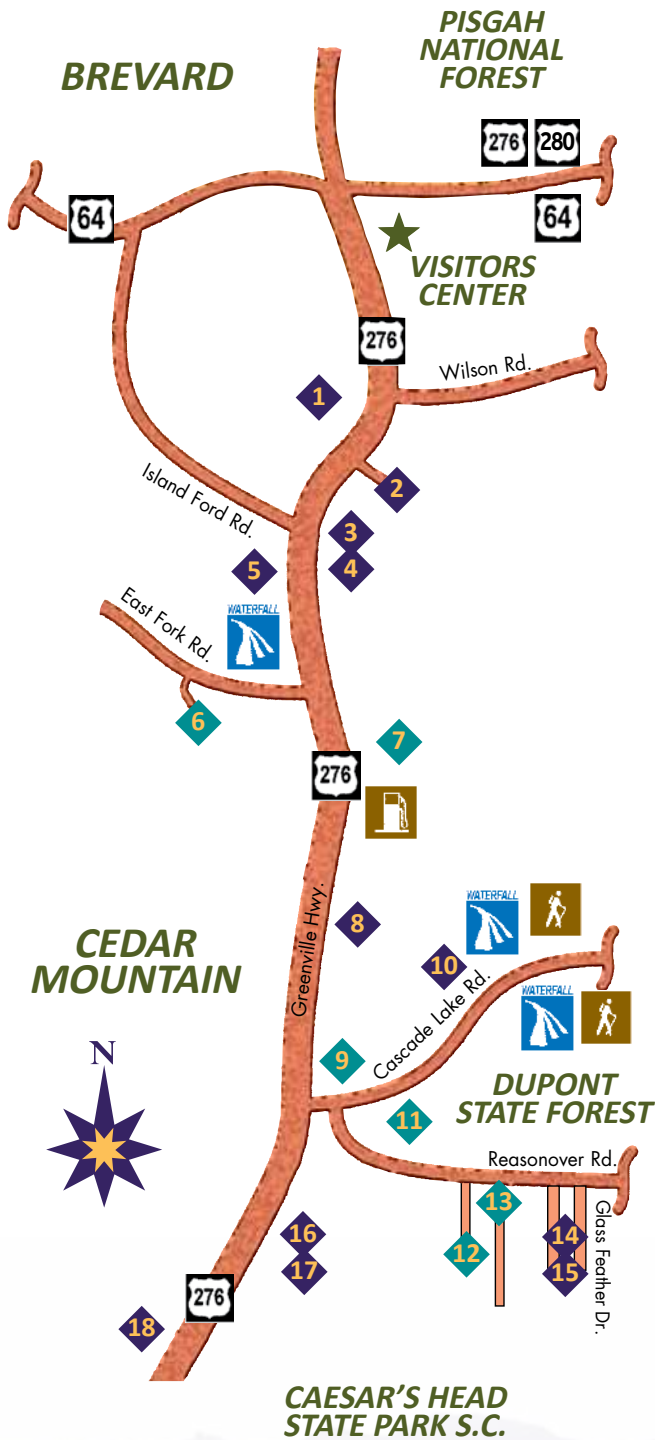

Many of the studios/galleries provide an opportunity to meet the artists creating pottery, glass art, paintings, sculpture, photography, metal work and more. While in the area, visit the waterfalls and natural settings which inspire these artists at nearby DuPont State Forest and Caesar's Head State Park. See for yourself the place where nature truly is an inspiration!

1 Duckpond Pottery

Perched above the French Broad River, with a deck surrounded by giant poplar trees, Duckpond Pottery produces a full range of functional pottery for the home while maintaining a special focus on custom architectural work including handcrafted sinks, decorative tile work, and accent lighting fixtures. Through the spring, summer, and fall months, the pottery also plays host to a twice monthly music series featuring live original music from national touring artists. Tues. - Sat., 10 am - 6 pm; Sun., 1-5 pm; Mondays by appointment. 2398 Greenville Hwy., www.duckpondpotter.etsy.com, 828-883-4512

2 Mountain Forest Pottery

Located in an 1880's pebble-dash house, Mountain Forest offers functional and whimsical pottery made on site by artist Mary Murray. "Handmade comes to life" in the homey gallery, offering the work of many regional artists--handmade teddy bears, jewelry, quilts, folk art, sculpture, drawings, and paintings. Recipes accompany many pottery pieces that are designed for baking apples, pies, and other dishes.

Mon.-Sat., 10 am - 5 pm; Sun., 1-5 pm; 2395 Greenville Hwy., 828-885-2149

3 Carwile-Dodson Studio for Pottery Instruction

Located next door to Mud Dabbers Pottery, the studio offers pottery classes for all ages--one-time classes, three-week and six-week classes in hand building and wheel-throwing--in a renovated mill building. In the summer, the studio offers pottery camps for children and adults and occasional one-day workshops.

4 Mud Dabbers Pottery and Crafts

On the banks of Dunn's Creek, located in the historic Powell's Store building, Mud Dabbers overflows with beautiful stoneware pottery, both art and functional forms, produced on site in the working studio and gallery. Twenty-five talented potters, 7 Dodson family members and 18 friends, work together in this over 20-year-old family business.

Mon.-Sat., 10 am - 6 pm; Sun., 1-6 pm; 3623 Greenville Hwy., www.muddabbers.com, 828-884-5131

5 Two Friends Gallery and Gifts

Housed in a quaint wooden cottage with an array of decks and beautiful mountain views, Two Friends offers a tranquil break from a busy highway, with fine art, photography, handmade jewelry, woodturnings, gourd art, and pine-needle weavings, many made by local artisans, and other gift items, including fine chocolates. Check for occasional special events featuring local writers and artists. Mon.- Sat., 10 am - 5 pm, 4158 Greenville Hwy., 828-877-6577

8 Cedar Mountain Country Store and Pottery

Clever, whimsical figures--animals, fairies, gnomes--greet visitors off Hwy. 276 at this manufacturer, where terra cotta pottery and local-cut stone are for sale right from the yard. Sundry items, canned goods, and unusual mountain collectibles make the gift shop a pleasure to peruse. Watch for the rare "Jackpoke," an Appalachian cousin to trolls and leprechauns! Open daily April to October, 9 am - 5 pm, 9293 Greenville Hwy., 828-883-8347

10 Dan Bresnahan, Sculptor and Designer

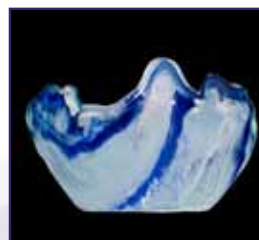

Indoor and outdoor sculpture, functional work such as gates, mirror frames, and tables, are some of the items fabricated at this metal-working studio, located on Cascade Lake Rd. about 7/10 mile off Hwy. 276, on the way to DuPont State Forest. Open by appointment or chance, 8028 Cascade Lake Rd.,
